(By The Associated Press)
SEOUL—(P)—Red battalions smashed back South Korean troops at two widely separated points on the United Nations line last night and today.

Attacking Communists drove the Republic of Korea (ROK) Eighth Division back four miles near Tokchon on the western front.

The attack, in battalion strength, began Tuesday night and continued Wednesday morning. By noon the ROK Eighth Division had withdrawn to the south bank of the Taedong river, four miles east of Tokchon. This is on the right flank of the U. N. western front.

Patrols Near Reservoir

On the extreme northeastern front six tank-led North Korean assault battalions tore fire holes through the ROK Capital Division line late Tuesday. The South Koreans counterattacked, closing the gaps, the U. S. 10th Corps said.

Violent Red assaults were continuing in the area, 90 miles southeast of the Soviet border. But, a spokesman said, "no ground was lost."

These Communist attacks were in sharp contrast to lack of opposition encountered by other U. N. troops advancing carefully in North Korea's bitter cold.

American troops reached the shores of North Korea's two largest reservoirs which produce power also for Manchuria. They sent patrols inside the ancient walled city of Yongbyon. The British Commonwealth 27th Brigade advanced half a mile and patrols entered Pakchon on the northwest front.

They found well-prepared but abandoned defenses, with signs that Chinese Communists recently had left them. Ammunition, supplies and individual packs had been left behind.

An intelligence spokesman at General MacArthur's headquarters said he had no idea why the Chinese were abandoning their positions.

A U. S. First corps spokesman on the western front said the Chinese are using North Koreans as a screen to fight U. N. troops while Chinese Reds prepare stronger defense lines to the rear. He said Chinese officers are reorganizing remnants of the North Korean army into effective fighting units.

There was no explanation of why little or no opposition was encountered around the great Changjin and Pujon reservoirs. Defense of these two vital dams earlier had been cited as an probable reason Chinese Reds troops poured into Korea.

Park-clad U. S. Marines, winding through gorges so narrow that their artillery could not follow, took Haeu at the southern tip of Changjin reservoir without opposition.

Clothing Freezes

To the northeast the U. S. Seventh division's 31st regiment hauled its guns and supplies on sleds to the northeastern shores of Pujon reservoir.

Maj. Gen. David Barr, divisional commander, said:

"The biggest enemy is this cold, miserable sub-zero weather. He said he was told six of his men waded the Ungi river and came out with their clothing frozen."

The air war didn't wait for the weather to warm up.

Thirty F-29s fire-bombed Hoeryong in northeastern Korea, northern-most target of the war. An air spokesman said the communications and military supply base, once a major link in Japan's military network in Korea, was left a mass of smoke and flames.

The Air Force reported a B-29 shot down one Russian-built MIG-15 jet plane and damaged another Tuesday in a bomb raid on the main entry bridges for Chinese Communists in Northern Korea.

He was accused of being the ringleader of a group of men who kidnapped Delgado Monday, then rumped five shots into his head and body. Urbina was wounded in the leg during the skirmish.

Crash Kills 6 At Pace, Okla.

Naval Plane Burns On Mountainside

PACE, Okla. — (P)—Six men died in the crash of a navy plane on Rich mountain near this little eastern Oklahoma town last night.

The bodies—burned as was the plane—were found early today by a crew of forest rangers.

Five lay in the wreckage of the plane—which bore U. S. navy markings—and one lay nearby.

The plane crashed in an area where many previous crashes have occurred—about 2,300 feet above sea level.

The plane was enroute from Lincoln, Neb., to New Orleans and was reported overdue by navy officials.

A crew of volunteers left this morning for the slow climb up the heavily wooded mountain to bring down the bodies.

Who'll Be Governor? Still Legal Muddle

Ballot Check To Be Speeded Up In Lansing

Gubernatorial Race May Land In Court

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING—(P)—Who will sit in the Michigan governor's chair January 1, 1951?

Will it be Gov. G. Mennen Williams? Will it be former Governor Harry F. Kelly? Will it be Lt. Gov.-elect William C. Vandenberg of Holland? or might it be Speaker of the House Victor A. Knox of Sault Ste. Marie?

These and other complex legal issues were tossed in Democratic Attorney General Stephen J. Roth's lap today by Williams, a Democrat, and Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., a Republican, as an aftermath of the tight race for governorship at the Nov. 7 election.

What About Jan. 1?
Williams was declared the winner in an unofficial tabulation yesterday of official canvasses from all 83 Michigan counties. But a recount is considered certain.

Alger, chairman of the state board of canvassers, said he hoped that with speedy action the official canvass of all state offices could be completed in two weeks. A recount presumably would be rushed in an attempt to get the election settled finally before January when a new administration must take office.

But in case a recount, or possible court suits, weren't completed by January 1, Williams and Alger both began probing for the path ahead.

It appeared to be the most complicated legal tangle in the history of state government.

Four Questions Loom
Williams, anticipating a recount by the Republicans, indicated he hoped to continue in office as de facto governor after January 1 until the recount decision is settled.

He asked Roth whether a vacancy would exist if the final decision had not been reached by then, adding that he understood state law provided any public officer held office until his successor was qualified.

Alger asked Roth four questions: 1—Must the state board of canvassers certify the winners at the end of the canvass?

2—Or will the Certification be suspended by the recount? 3—If the recount suspends certification of the governor-elect, (Continued on page 16)

Train Accident Kills 22 Persons In Norway
OSLO, Norway — (P)—Twenty persons were believed killed or injured in a train accident at Hjukseboe, on the Oslo-Kristiansand railway today.

The Oslo-bound train from Kristiansand collided with a freight car which had broken loose on the main line.

Hjukseboe is 82 miles north of Oslo. Emergency squads including doctors and nurses were sent to the accident scene.

The accident occurred about 10:15 a. m. The express was going at full speed when it crashed. The first coach of the express was demolished.

been blocked to all traffic. Blair House has been roped off, and only those with special passes may approach nearer than the broad width of Pennsylvania avenue, on which it fronts. The government has purchased the two adjacent buildings whose windows look down upon the president's temporary living quarters. The residential portion of the White House is under repair.

Swarms of uniformed and plain-clothes police and secret service men have been added to the White House guard.

The president's dislike for the protective steps that go with his job has always been evident. But there's nothing he could do about them. The law gives the secret service power to overrule any president on steps needed for his safety.

Building Of Bars And Saloons Now Under NPA Ban

WASHINGTON — (P)—The national production authority today banned the construction of bars and saloons.

The defense agency added drinking places to its list of "amusement facilities" whose construction is prohibited to conserve materials for defense.

Night clubs were barred by the original order.

The order also was expanded to include certain "structures" as well as buildings. This brought under the ban golf courses, swimming pools, tennis courts and yacht basins, if the construction cost exceeds $5,000 in any 12-month period.

Blasts Rock Gulf Oil Refinery; 3 Men Hurt

PORT ARTHUR, Tex.—(P)—A series of seven explosions rocked sprawling oil refinery near the gulf coast city early today. Three men were injured, one critically.

The blasts set off fires which were brought under control about 6 a. m. (CST) and extinguished about two hours later.

The huge refinery and tank farm belongs to the gulf oil corporation of Houston. A company spokesman said the explosions and fire began as escaping gas struck a fire box.

Injured were: N. T. Swinney, critically burned. Frances Lawrence, a Negro worker who was burned.

R. T. Smith, who suffered a possible broken ankle when knocked down by an explosion.

Firemen from Beaumont, Orange, Port Neches, and Port Arthur combined forces. The out of town firemen were delayed reaching the refinery because of a heavy, low-hanging fog over the gulf coast area.

About 300 miles southwest of Port Arthur another refinery fire continued to burn today.

Monday night a 10,000 barrel crude oil tank at the Danahoe Refinery Tank Farm near Pettus, Tex., was ignited by lightning. Despite an all-night fight, firemen were unable to keep the flames from spreading to two 1,000 barrel tanks. Yesterday, a second 10,000 barrel tank burst into flames.

The fight continued early today as firemen feared the second huge tank of blazing crude might collapse and spill flaming oil over the entire tank farm.

Liquor Control Politics Boiling

Kozaren Wants Audit Of Kunzig Deals

LANSING — (P)—The Political pot at the State Liquor Control Commission bubbled furiously today.

Chairman John J. Kozaren, a Democrat, accused the Republican legislative committee of a "partisan political maneuver" in ordering an independent audit of the commission's operations.

Kozaren demanded the audit be broadened to include the "unusual deals in rum and wines" which he said were transacted by Louis A. Kunzig, commission executive director, during the "waning days of former Governor Harry Kelly's second administration" in 1946.

Kunzig, twice fired by the commission's Democratic majority and twice reinstated by the State Civil Service Commission and the supreme court, tried to take over his job again and got no place. Another case is still in the courts.

Purchasing Director John K. Schlinkert was reported considering a supreme court appeal from the Ingham county circuit's decision dismissing his $100,000 libel and slander suit against Republican Commissioner Harry Henderson.

C. J. McNeil, legislative controller who said the commission audit had been ordered by the legislature's interim audit and finance committee, denied Kozaren's charge of politics and said the committee was merely after information which might influence its decision on "changes in the liquor laws."

Truman Makes Plea For More Taxes
WASHINGTON — (P)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today proposed a 75 per cent excess profits tax on corporations to raise the extra $4,000,000,000 that President Truman wants to help pay for the expanding defense effort.

Snyder said he is "confident" the proposal—a modified and softer version of the 85.5 per cent excess profits tax of World War II—can be passed at the short-session of Congress opening Nov. 27.

The treasury chief appeared before the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee to back up Mr. Truman's plea yesterday for a $4,000,000,000-a-year profits levy, retroactive to July 1, as "part of a sound program of defense taxation." The President said profits are soaring under a mandate for Congress to try to produce an excess levy bill as quickly as possible.

Prospects for action this year are none too bright. Sentiment has been building up for other methods of boosting government revenue, including further increases in individual income taxes and ordinary corporation taxes.

Hanna To Build Giant Carrier

New Vessel Will Be 690 Feet Long

CLEVELAND — (P)—A giant iron ore carrier—largest inland waterway ship ever built—will be constructed for M. A. Hanna Co. in the Lorain, O., yards of American Ship Building Co., the Cleveland News said today.

The huge vessel will be finished in time for the 1952 navigation season at an estimated cost of nearly $6,000,000, the News said.

With a 690-foot overall length, the new vessel will be 12 feet longer than the Wilfred Sykes which Inland Steel Co. put into service late last year. The 70-foot beam and 37 foot molded deputy of the projected carrier will be similar to those of the Sykes, present queen of the lakes.

Capacity of the new ship at present Great Lakes drafts probably will exceed the 20,000 gross tons of iron ore that the Sykes can haul.

The new Hanna ship will be powered by steam from coal-fired boilers. Its speed will be comparable to the 16.5 mile-an-hour rate of the Sykes.

Acheson Under Pressure To Quit Cabinet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(P)—A struggle over Dean Acheson's tenure as secretary of state appeared today to be building up behind the scenes of the Truman administration.

In the aftermath of last week's Democratic election reverses official informants who cannot be named said that two conflicting lines of advice are being directed toward President Truman. In their simplest forms these are:

1. Acheson must go because he is a political liability; and 2. He must be kept in office under Republican fire because to let him go now would jeopardize the foreign policies for which he stands and hurt the president politically.

Pal of President
At the moment there is every indication that Mr. Truman does not intend to let the secretary out. The president has declared his support of Acheson in the past and associates say the two maintain a close friendship based on mutual admiration. Acheson himself has declared he has no intention of resigning.

The argument that he should go now, reportedly pressed by Acheson's critics within the Democratic party, holds that the Congressional elections proved the secretary to be a political handicap, that he lacks popularity if not the confidence of much of the country, and that the president should permit him—or ask him—to step aside.

His Big Handicap
Political observers are touch with sentiment in the Democratic National committee and among Democratic Senators say the weight of opinion in those quarters

No Excuses For Student Hunters

Senior High School Lists Regulations

The decision of whether deer hunting will take precedence over study must be made by the parents and no absence from school for hunting will be excused, according to regulations of Escanaba Senior high school.

These regulations were presented to the board of education at its meeting last night as a matter of information on procedure in such cases. It was reported that absences for deer hunting are "quite prevalent" and that about 50 students are out for that reason.

The signature of the parent must accompany the request of the student to be absent for deer hunting. The parents are the ones to decide how much study time should be lost by their child. It was pointed out.

Under the regulations, absences for deer hunting will not be excused. Seniors absent for hunting will be asked to take final examinations; students who are known to have skipped school for hunting will be required to make up time and a half, in addition to any other rule regarding such absences.

Parents are advised not to sign the request if the student has had failing marks, or has been doing "D" work in any subject. The hunter must present his license at the school office before the absence.

State law requires that children of school age shall be in school.

The body of Sebastian Charles, about 70, who lived alone in his small home about two miles from Cornell, was found this morning and the death is being investigated this afternoon by officers of the sheriff's department.

Charles was employed as a woodsman and had lived in the Cornell community for a number of years. Among the survivors is a brother, Jewel Charles, who resides on a farm a short distance from Sebastian's home. It was reported that a friend of Sebastian's called for him this morning to go hunting and found him dead, but the name of the friend was not learned by the officers.

Deer Hunting Hits And Misses

The best hunting yarn of the 1950 deer hunting season was reported this noon by August Lundgaard of Cornell at whose country store weighing in the first buck of the season is tradition.

The buck, his horns tightly wedged in the fence of Lundgaard's back yard, almost made it. Glen Mattson, Cornell, starting for the woods, saw it first. He shot and missed and then jammed his gun. Lundgaard ran out to see what the commotion was and hurried back into the house for his rifle.

In the meantime Rene Terrien, driving out to his hunting camp, came by.

Terrien weighed in the buck, 150 pounds, at Lundgaard's store.

George Kennedy, 1213 Delta avenue, was the first Gladstone hunter to report his deer kill. Kennedy got a 135 pound pronged buck on the bluff at West Gladstone about seven a. m. He filed his license last year in about the same place and at approximately the same time on the opening day.

Harold Winchester, 617 South 18th street, Harry Winchester of Gladstone and Louis, John, Joe and Stanley Butryn and Henry Levesque, of Schaffer left yesterday for their camp at LaBranche for a week's hunting.

Barney McCosky, former Detroit Tigers player now with the Philadelphia Athletics, is hunting deer at Blaney Park this week.

Harold G. Hirn of Gulfport, and Royal Hodges, Biloxi, Miss., are hunting at the Rene Labre camp at LaBranche. Hirn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hirn, 924 Seventh avenue south.

Andy Yanitsky, 421 South 12th street, got his buck, a 10-pointer weighing 185 pounds, at the Johnson farm in Perkins at 8:30 this morning.

Frank Falkels, Cornell potato grower, had only to walk out in his "back forty" to land his four-point buck this morning.

Three of the four Tryan brothers of Escanaba Rt. 1 bagged bucks this morning by 7:45 o'clock—but the fourth is still without venison. Fred, Kenneth and Louis Tryan reported success at the early hour while hunting near Martin's Bay on the Stington peninsula.

Shortly before 8 a. m. today Wayne Young of Rapid River brought down a spike horn buck while hunting north of Rapid River. His was among the earliest kills to be reported.

Jerome DeBacker of 1523 Sheridan road and Robert Lauscher of 203 South 23rd street filled their licenses early this morning while hunting together near Watson. DeBacker downed a 10-point buck about 7:45 a. m., and Lauscher a six-pointer about 8:10 a. m.

VISITS CITY—Don Gillies, outdoors editor of the Detroit Times, came to Escanaba to make arrangements for the state and national conventions of outdoors writers to be held in Escanaba on June 20 to July 7. Gillies, who is president of the Michigan Outdoors Writers association and chairman of the convention committee of the Outdoors Writers Association of America, predicted the joint meeting at Escanaba will be the largest in the history of the organizations.

Michigan's automobile manufacturers have offered their cooperation in making the outdoors writers convention a success since they realize its importance in efforts to promote motor travel. Various stunts will be arranged to entertain the group here.

"If Pat Hayes gets that deer trained for his much-publicized horse-deer race, I'll get Bing Crosby to ride the horse," Gillies said.

Revolver Is Stolen From Car

Percy Winters of 1801 Third avenue north today reported to city police that a revolver was stolen from his car last night.

The gun, Winters informed police, is a .38 calibre Smith and Wesson. Also stolen was a box of 22 calibre shells.

Winters said the revolver was stolen from his car while it was parked near Carpenter hall, where he was attending a meeting.

Police are investigating.

Most of the arrests were for pre-season hunting, carrying loaded guns in cars or possession of illegal venison.

In six days ending Tuesday afternoon, the state-operated ferries had carried slightly less vehicles to the Upper Peninsula than last year at the same time. This year's total was 15,820 compared with 16,939 at the same time last year.

Mild Weather Hits Hunting

Forecast Rain Or Snow For U. P.

Deer hunting conditions took a turn for the worse today in most of the North Country, with higher temperatures erasing tracking snow and encouraging opening-day buck-slayers to leave the woods and find a cold storage locker for their venison.

Although the Lower Peninsula had rain, the Upper Peninsula weather was cloudy and rather mild today. Both showers and snow flurries were predicted for later in the day in parts of the U. P.

The weather man looked for colder weather tomorrow over the state.

Report Many Arrests

Roads in the Upper Peninsula hunting country generally were good, although some snow banks still lingered today in the north and east sections. In other places ice made the going slippery for cars and booted hunters.

The warmer weather and the prospect of rain might keep some hunters from the woods, and it is possible the total number of hunters will not reach the 400,000 mark of last year in the state, the conservation department reported.

There was also the possibility that the deer kill would not hit last year's 115,000.

Deer law violations in the Delta-Marquette-Alger district totaled 20 within the past two days, according to a report from district conservation headquarters in Escanaba. For the state as a whole 91 arrests had been reported to yesterday, considered "about normal."

Straits Traffic Down

Most of the arrests were for pre-season hunting, carrying loaded guns in cars or possession of illegal venison.

In six days ending Tuesday afternoon, the state-operated ferries had carried slightly less vehicles to the Upper Peninsula than last year at the same time. This year's total was 15,820 compared with 16,939 at the same time last year.

Give Teachers Income Boost

Grant Adjustment For Higher Living Cost

To assist in meeting the rising cost of living, teachers and other employees of the Escanaba school system last night were granted an adjustment in salary by the board of education. Approximately 140 employees, of whom 120 are teachers, will benefit.

Employees with three or more years experience with the Escanaba school system will receive $100 as a bonus or salary adjustment, and employees with one or two years experience in Escanaba will receive $75. The bonus will not apply to three teachers whose salaries are paid by the federal government.

Total cost of the adjustment for this year will be about $12,000 and is granted by the board of education in anticipation of increased revenue from state sales tax redistribution.

Two Teacher Contracts

Supt. John A. Lemmer reported to the board that many school districts in the state have made such adjustments and that additional districts are contemplating making them.

Other business before the board last night included the following:

Approved contracts for two new teachers to fill vacancies for the second semester, both in the grades. The new teachers will be Miss Dolores Corey of Munising, and Miss Audrey Armstrong of Dafer (Chippewa county), both graduates of Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette.

Received a report by Dick Schram, chairman of the physical and mental health committee of the Escanaba school system.

Board "Outstanding"

Received a letter from the Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City, informing the board it has been "named one of America's outstanding school boards" and asking cooperation in a project to determine board practices to assist other boards in the nation to "do an even better job than they are now doing."

Approved a request of the music department of the high school to purchase a high school flag from funds derived by the department's sponsorship of the U. S. Marine band concert. Proceeds to the music department totaled $975. Materials for risers for the stage and additional instrumentation for the music department, also are contemplated from the fund.

FIRST CARLOAD OF TREES—Here is the first carload of Christmas trees shipped from Rock over the Chicago and North Western railway to Chicago. The trees were cut by Rock residents for John Reuther of the Acme Landscape company of Chicago. The carload consisted of large trees, one a 50-footer which will be erected as a community tree in the Belmont-Lincoln shopping district in Chicago. (Daily Press Photo)

Annual Christmas Tree Harvest Under Way in Upper Peninsula

By railroad and truck, the annual crop of Christmas trees being moving this week from the Upper Peninsula woodlands to the markets in Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit and other Middle West cities.

A carload of large balsams, ranging from 18 to 50 feet in height, was loaded on Monday at Rock, one of the active Christmas tree shipping points on the Chicago and North Western railway.

The largest tree, a 50-footer, will decorate the Belmont-Lincoln shopping district in Chicago, having been purchased by the business men of that district from John Reuther of the Acme Landscape company, Chicago, who is now buying trees in the Rock area. In addition, Reuther has sold 350 small trees to adorn the light poles in the Belmont-Lincoln area.

Another interesting order, shipped in the same C&NW car from Rock, was for 18 trees, 18 feet in height, to be erected in the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. The trees will represent 18 different nations and will be trimmed according to the customs of the respective lands.

Over Million Trees

About fifteen carloads of Christmas trees will be shipped this season over the C&NW railway from the area that extends from Perkins to Little Lake. Many additional trees will be transported to the markets by trucks. All together, it is estimated the Upper Peninsula produces more than one million out of the 22,000,000 harvested annually in the United States. An additional 6,000,000 are imported from Canada for use in this country.

Paul Ramseth of Rock, assisted by his son, Roger, has been cutting Christmas trees for Reuther for several years. Other Rock producers transport their trees by truck to Chicago and retail them at vacant lots. Henry Jokela, for instance, has been selling trees for years on Western avenue on the northwest side. Oscar Niemi sold trees in Chicago for years, but has retired from the business.

Jurmu Cuts 10,000

One of the leading Christmas tree men is Ray T. Jurmu, formerly of Menominee, who now resides in the large ranch-style home he built at 1601 Lake Shore drive, Escanaba, a year ago.

Jurmu employs about twenty men in the tree harvest during November and December. He cuts on seven tracts he owns in the vicinity of Ralph, Cedar River and Buena, Wis., and on stumpage he buys from other land owners. The cutters also do the baling and loading. Their pay is $7 a day with board and lodging at the trailer camps Jurmu sets up at the scene of harvesting operations.

During October, Jurmu was engaged in the production of 6,000 grave blankets consisting of spruce and balsam boughs. He made the last truck shipment to Chicago over the weekend from Menominee, where he had 17 persons employed at making up the items. Jurmu expects to ship about 10,000 trees to Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, or wherever the market conditions are best. Shipments are made in three large semi-trucks.

Operates Chicago Lot

Jurmu has operated a retail lot the past five Christmas tree seasons at Sheridan Road and Loyola avenue on Chicago's northside. Last year, small table trees retailed at 50 to 75 cents, and four to eight-foot trees for the homes at $1.50 to $8 depending upon the quality. Larger trees usually sell at about one dollar a foot. They are bought by banks, churches and civic groups.

"The balsam is still the favorite for several years. Other Rock producers transport their trees by truck to Chicago and retail them in popularity in recent years,

Jurmu said. "Another tree that is finding increased demand is the Scotch pine that has been shipped to the Chicago from Lower Michigan the past five years."

Most Christmas trees are cut on privately-owned lands by either the owners or contractors who buy the stumpage.

To prevent unlawful cutting of trees the driver of each truckload of trees must have a bill of sale in his possession. A cutter must also have written permission to harvest trees on land other than his own. Christmas tree shipments are checked periodically by the officers of the state conservation department and state police. A checking station is maintained at the Menominee - Marinette state line during the truck shipping rush.

The U. S. Forest Service has sold stumpage for the cutting of 20,000 Christmas trees on the Hiawatha and Marquette national forests this season. The trees, ranging from four to 10 feet, were sold at 27 cents each, and the larger spruce and balsam at four cents a linear foot. Some Red or Norway pine trees are also being sold from the Forest Service plantation at Trout Lake.

Origin of Yule Tree

Any effort to trace the origin and development of the Christmas tree along with the adornments and gifts associated with it would

To Award Four Scholarships

Catherine Bonifas Fund Established

Preparing to award four scholarships from the $50,000 Catherine Bonifas scholarship fund, the Escanaba board of education last night set aside that sum in government bonds to provide an annual income of $1,250 for the awards.

The income of $1,250 will permit awards of usual amount to four students, each of whom will receive a total of $312.50, or one-fourth of the income of the scholarship fund.

Will Award in June

Based on the approximate number of students in the graduating classes, three of the Catherine Bonifas scholarship awards will go to graduates of Escanaba Senior High school, and one to a graduate of St. Joseph's High school. The faculties of the two schools will select the students who will receive the scholarships, with the regulations for selecting the recipients to be approved by the board of education. Character, scholarship, and financial need are usual considerations in awarding scholarships.

The candidates for the first Catherine Bonifas scholarship awards will be selected in June, 1951, and the scholarships will lead far into the realm of speculation and legend. The custom, it is known, was prevalent in Germany during the middle of the 18th century; and there is record of a lighted tree in Strassburg as early as 1604.

The custom of lighting Christmas trees with candles is believed to have been originated by Martin Luther four centuries ago. The custom spread throughout Germany, but it was not adopted in the other countries of Europe until about 1800.

History records that the Hessian soldiers of fortune set up lighted trees during the Christmas season while fighting on the side of the British in the American Revolution. Later, the decorating of Christmas trees with tufts of cotton, strings of popcorn and cranberries, apples and trinkets developed as a custom in American homes.

In communities throughout America, Twelfth Night ceremonies, in which trees and wreaths gathered from the various homes are burned at a large bonfire, is becoming a popular custom. The ritual apparently is an outgrowth of the celebration by the early Christians of the Nativity of Christ for 12 days, with the placing of special emphasis on the 12th, or last day.

Editorials—

Statewide Recount Is Necessary To Determine Correct Results

REGARDLESS of the final outcome of the governorship election as certified by the boards of canvassers, there undoubtedly will be and very definitely should be a complete recount of the ballots in every precinct of the state.

Moreover, because so many, many errors in tabulations and so many election irregularities have already been disclosed, the recount of the votes should be paid for entirely by the state.

The election laws stipulate that only the defeated candidate can apply for a recount and that he must pay $5 a precinct for each precinct to be recounted. The other candidate may then request a recount in precincts not named by the defeated candidate, posting a $5 bond for each such precinct. Money thus posted is returned if the certified election results are overturned.

The results that will ultimately be posted by the official canvassing boards are meaningless in this election. The election totals will be so close that even minor errors would reverse the results. But many major errors have already been discovered so that no one can really be sure which candidate actually received the greater number of votes.

The people of Michigan are entitled to have an accurate, fair and reliable count of the vote in any election. The governorship election certainly is one of such importance that the result should not be based upon which candidate may have benefited by election errors.

A complete recount of the votes throughout the state will not only determine the election winner, but it will also point the way for correction of the mess that has already been discovered in the handling of the 1950 general election.

We need some drastic changes in our election system. It is without meaning to have two million people go to the polls on election day and then have election boards mishandle the counting of the ballots to the extent that no one can be sure of the results.

No one will care to vote in the future unless some real assurances are provided that the election will be properly conducted and the ballots carefully counted, totalled and recorded.

Voting is the basis of democracy. We should be ashamed of the incredible mishandling of the election last week by so many election boards throughout the state.

Our own election boards in Delta county apparently did a good job in handling the election and in tabulating the returns. At least no major errors have been discovered. A careful recount of all precincts in the state, however, will show which boards did their job well, and which flunked the test.

Other Editorial Comments

OUR SCHOOLS—1950 (Christian Science Monitor)

Even the absence of urgent battle-front reports from Asia and political speculation on the home front, observance of American Education Week might not have received screaming newspaper headlines.

Yet, even in competition with war and elections, the status of American education in 1950 is well worth some serious consideration. In a very practical way the nation's constructive force for freedom as well as its strength in military power depend to a very great extent on the soundness of the free public schools.

It is repetitious but true to say that the nation's public school systems have never before been confronted with so many urgent problems at one time. Providing more adequate buildings—a costly but necessary undertaking—is perhaps the easiest obligation to fulfill. More difficult and even more necessary is the staffing of these buildings with an adequate number of adequately trained instructors.

Beyond that lies need for a deep, abiding awareness by parents and the public in general that the future and direction of the public schools will determine the future and direction of the nation.

MAKING VOTING EASY (Sault Ste. Marie News)

The military services are to be commended for taking considerable pains to make it as easy as possible for servicemen away from their homes to vote in the fall elections. They provided postal card forms with which men could apply for absentee ballots to those states which will accept a form request, and took steps to make sure that the attention of every service man was called to the possibility of voting by absentee ballot.

The service men who take the trouble to cast ballots also deserve credit. Nothing could be easier than is the process of voting for their stay-at-home fellows, yet there is only about a fifty-fifty chance, or less, that the citizen at home gets himself to the polling place. Those who cast absentee ballots may develop a little more respect for their privilege, since more effort was needed to exercise it. They may even bring the voting habit home with them.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Yesterday I abandoned my alleged crouching position under the cabinet table long enough to report on the distressing way some of our West European friends are drifting away from us. Today I want to report some brighter phases of the European picture; also suggest some ideas for making them even brighter.

CRACKS IN THE CURTAIN

While we have headaches in Western Europe, the Kremlin is having worse in Eastern Europe. . . In Poland, troop trains between Russia and East Germany are dynamited almost weekly. The Poles hate the Russians more than the Germans—which is saying a lot. And the underground in Poland is more active than ever before. . . Czechoslovakia is seething and turbulent. . . Bulgarian troops, deserting in dribbles across the Turkish border, report intense dislike of the Russians. . . Most important of all, every satellite country is watching Yugoslavia. It Tito can get by the present winter, despite crop failures and near-starvation, more satellite countries will follow his lead.

MORE BAD TAX NEWS

Meanwhile, here at home, the good old browbeaten taxpayer is in for more bad news. U. S. military chiefs are going to ask for about another thirty billion dollars in the next few months—making a total defense budget passed this year of about sixty billion. This doesn't include the normal expense of running the government, or interest on the national debt, or care of veterans—which total another twenty billion. . . Compare this with the last prewar year, 1938—when we spent one billion on defense, and our total budget was only seven billion. (We thought those were hectic years!) . . . Since V-J day, we have spent a total of seventy billion on armament, not including the Korean war, and if we go on spending at this rate, we will be bankrupt even before Russia starts the all-out war we are so busy preparing for. . . In fact, to pay this huge armament bill we must inevitably and definitely lower our standard-of-living to a point similar to or even lower than Europe's.

SHOULD GET TO RUSSIANS

The remedy as I see it is to quit waging a defensive war and carry the attack to the enemy—not through expensive force of arms, but by getting to the Russian people. . . This is the thing Stalin worries about most, and that is the reason for the iron curtain. . . In contrast, we have worried ourselves so sick over a few McCarthy Communists which may be lurking under our beds at home that we have lost our initiative, our interprise and our imagination abroad. The Kremlin itself couldn't have arranged things better. . . No military commander wants to be attacked at home. He carries the attack to the enemy. . . But we are so gentlemanly that we sit with arms folded and don't do to the Russians what they are doing to us. Instead of worrying about the handful of Americans they convert, we should be out carrying the fight to their territory, converting thousands of Russians and satellites over to us.

WAR IS NOT EASY

Easier said than done will be the reaction of most people. Quite true. But war is not easy either. And there is only one alternative to war with Russia—converting a bloc of the Russian people. . . If we don't do that, war with Russia is absolutely sure and certain. . . Furthermore, there are some soft spots in Russia which most people don't know about. Approximately 15,000,000 Russians—perhaps more—are in concentration camps because they are out of sympathy with the Kremlin. . . Large areas of unrest exist inside the Soviet—especially White Russia and the Ukraine. . . Few Americans realize that when the Nazis invaded Russia in 1941, 3,600,000 Russian prisoners were taken, chiefly because the people were so fed up with their Moscow regime that they literally rushed into German arms. . . This has now been proved to the hilt in captured war documents. . . Surrender to the German army to escape Communism in 1941 war far greater than desertion from the czar in 1915-17. When fighting under the czar, Russian troops stopped the Germans at Riga in Lithuania. They never let the Kaiser's army even get on real Russian soil. . . But Hitler's army advanced across two-thirds of Russia right down to the Caucasus—all because Russian troops and peasants almost welcomed the invader.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

WORDS TO WATCH

Walter Winchell, usually very careful about his pronunciations, stubbed his tongue badly on three familiar words on a recent broadcast.

For volcano he said "vol-KAN-oh," a pronunciation that no dictionary lists. The correct pronunciation, of course, is: vol-KAY-noh.

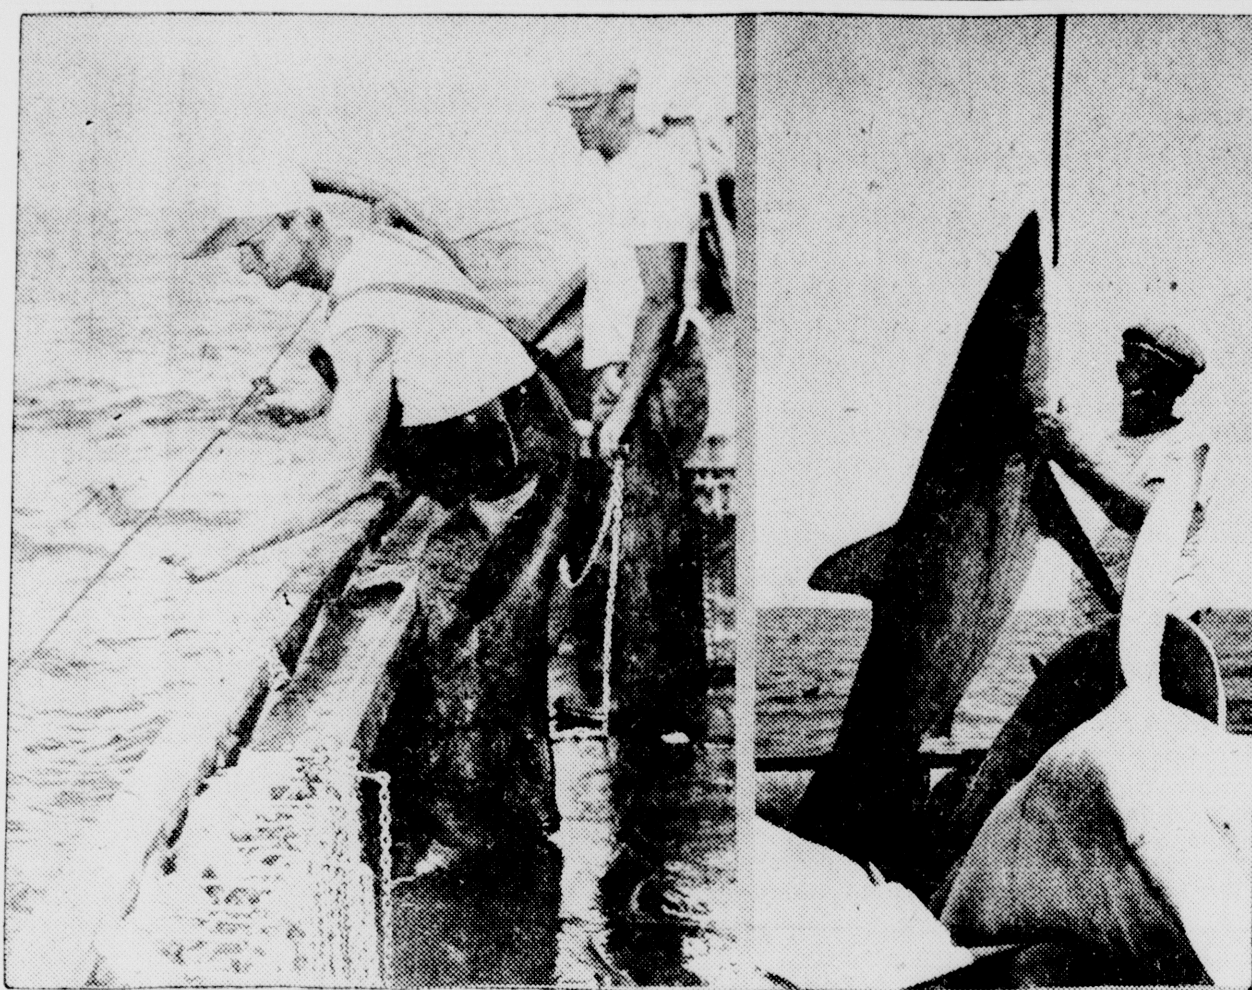

For initiative he said "in-EESH-uh-tiv," which has no sanction. In best usage, initiative has five syllables, thus: in-ISH-ee-AY-tive. Also permissible, but more informal, is: in-ISH-uh-tiv, almost: in-ISH-yuh-tiv.

The word championship was mispronounced "cham-PEEN-ship," instead of the correct: CHAM-pee-un-ship.

But a moment or two later he did pronounce the word champion correctly.

Drew Pearson continues to say "ON-voy" for the word envoy. As I have pointed out before, the word envoy is English and should be pronounced: EN-voy. The pronunciation "ON-voy" results from an effort to make the word sound French. But the French noun is envoye (the final "e" is marked with the acute accent), pronounced: (ah)(n)-vwa-YAY.

Let's learn a new word. We have read quite a bit about our air forces dropping napalm bombs on North Korean objectives. The word napalm is a coined word from the names of aluminum salts of naphthenic and palmitic acids, used in gelling gasoline for incendiary bombs and flame throwers. Napalm is pronounced: NAY-palm.

SHARK FISHING IS A GROWING and unique industry that contains a thrill a minute for its workers. Left, experts fishing for the killers of the sea. Baited lines are attached to a sturdy cable which stretches out for about 500 yards. The cable is held between two buoys. The baited lines are left for 24 hours. Nets aren't practical for catching sharks since the razor-toothed murderers rip them to shreds. Right, a sample of the catch. 40 to 50 sharks a boat is considered a good day's haul.

Outwitting the Tigers of the Sea Is Fast Growing, Unique Industry

By MILLER JAMES

Shark! The tiger of the sea is just bread and butter to a group of fishermen located on the coast of Florida and while theirs is a commercial profession they had their share of adventure last year catching 6,000 sharks. Big sharks and little sharks, leopard sharks and tiger sharks, hammerhead and nurse sharks—all the fierce predators of warm South Atlantic waters are just so many watch-bobs, hides, livers, teeth, fins and health-giving oil to a new industry which has been slowly but steadily building up since World War II.

There are six shark fisheries in the state and a refining plant for shark liver oil, heralded by its promoters as having 30 times the vitamin content of cod liver oil. All units of the unique industry send their other raw material to an out-of-state manufacturer for processing, refinement and distribution.

Drama in Shark Fishing

The finished leather is sold to manufacturers throughout the nation for the making of children's and men's "scuffless" shoes, luggage and brief cases. The meat is ground up and made into a special meal with high vitamin content and widely used for fattening fowl; and the fins are sold to thousands of Chinese restaurants for their contain an edible gelatin for making soups that is prized by Orientals.

There's drama aplenty in the daily routine of the shark fishermen. Hours before dawn every day the boats, each manned by a crew of two men, leave the protected harbor and return with from 20 to 50 sharks, ranging up to 15 feet long. Sometimes they return after a battle with rough seas, with smashed tackle and little else because, as Charley Mooney of Salerno, pioneer in this new industry, explains:

"There are sea tigers off the Florida coast which no tackle ever invented will hold."

He goes on to explain: "For the past few years finding the proper gear has been the biggest problem of the shark industry. At the beginning we used specially devised nets, but we kept running into sharks that went through our rope nets as though they had been made of spider webs. Today we are using huge chain trawl-lines, fishing with 100 hooks to a set—and the big fellows still tear up our tackle."

The long trawls, which might be likened to the set-lines which catch Mississippi catfish, or the gear used by the codfish dories off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, are baited with catfish, stungarees and other "trash" fish. Each boat handles 200 hooks, although plans are now underway to increase the size of the trawls to handle 200 hooks each. With each boat setting three sets, this would result in the individual craft using 600 hooks.

Some Big Fellows

"You can believe it or not," says Mooney, exhibiting a short piece of chain which looks as if it had been snapped between two locomotives, "a shark did that. We have had scores of chains broken and dozens of trawls torn up by the giant fish that lurk on the edge of the Gulf Stream. I don't know how big they are. But I do know this—there are fish large enough in Gulf waters that look at a shark the same way a barracuda looks at a mullet."

"We have had occasions when all we have brought in has been the head of a 10- or 12-foot shark. This is fact: Once we brought in two heads, one inside the other. The first was a small hammerhead which had been hooked through the lip. His head was inside the mouth of a huge tiger shark which was trying to swallow him and also had been hooked. Now what ocean going denizen could have been large enough to bite off the body of that tiger shark?"

40 to 50 Some Days

Mooney's valiant crew regard sharks like a cowboy looks at a cow. But there have been plenty of death-dodging experiences. "We won't forget in a hurry," he says, "the experience of one man some months ago who fell overboard right on top of a giant shark. The other members of the crew had just brought the sea tiger alongside, and were gaffing him, ready to hoist him aboard and club his snout when this fisherman slipped and landed square on the shark's back. And was he lucky? He didn't even get wet—he was in such a hurry to get aboard our boat again."

A "commercial shark" measures from 6 to 15 feet in length at the fishery. A "good day" means 40 to 50 sharks. The largest number ever brought in on a single day was 75, all tiger sharks, Mooney declares.

"We have about five common varieties," he explains, "but their prevalence depends on the season of the year. Right now we are catching leopard, lemon, hammerhead and nurse sharks. Once in a great while we snare a white one (they grow up to 30 feet) but we've never gotten one over 12 feet long. The mackerel sharks run in the fall when the big fish go south, and they follow the schools northward again in the spring. We catch lots more leopard sharks than we originally figured on, the average being 10 to 12 a day. The tiger sharks swim in schools. With our new and improved equipment, we hope eventually to be catching from 50 to 150 a day."

Skinned in 7 Minutes

There's a science in handling the sea tigers. After being brought alongside the boat they are swung aboard by derricks, dropped into an enclosed section of cockpit, and clubbed on the nose with iron bars. Once landed at the fishery they are skinned and fleshed by specially trained operators, who can skin the largest in seven minutes and flesh it in five. The hides are placed in brine, then dry salted for shipment in barrels, each barrel holding about 18 hides. The manufacturing company holds a patent for removing the rough, sand-paperish skin from the hides and this leather is made into brief cases and other long-wearing leather goods.

The fins are prepared with special care. First they're cut off and put on racks to dry for ten days. Then they're shipped to the factory to receive further treatment before they are used as the basis for "shark fin soup." Hundreds of thousands of shark teeth are made into watch fobs and other ornamental jewelry. Jeweled pins are made from the transparent, crystallized eye pupils; walking canes from the backbones.

Each shark has an enormous reservoir of oil in its liver which is extracted and rendered under steam producing an average of two gallons apiece.

"We have found lots of odd things in the stomachs of sharks," Mooney says, "but never human remains. Once we found a paint bucket with a big beef bone inside it. Then we opened up a 15-foot leopard shark, which weighed about 1,200 pounds. It had immense jaws yet all this shark had in his stomach was two chicken heads and the bone from a T-bone steak, picked up no doubt from following an ocean-going steamer."

They Eat Porpoises

Mooney delights in blasting popular fallacies about his favorite fish. For instance, he declares the old story that sharks are afraid of porpoises is pure poppycock. "I'm afraid it's just the other way around," he insists. "We have taken at least 26 porpoise heads from the stomachs of sharks. Sometimes we find giant loggerhead turtles bitten half in two, shell and all, in the stomachs of leopard sharks. And that's something, when you realize that these sea turtles weigh up to 500 pounds."

A full-grown shark often will have seven rows of teeth, one behind the other, Mooney says, although the nurse shark has eleven rows.

"Do you think you ever will catch one of those giant sharks that have been smashing your chains?" he was asked.

"Now that I don't know. Some months ago we made a special rig, baited with a big chunk of meat, and drifted it along the edge of the Gulf Stream. We were in a 30-foot boat with a deep lead. Well, sir, all of a sudden it felt as though the boat had run aground. We had been drifting with the wind, and when that sea monster grabbed the bait we stopped just like an automobile hitting a mud bank. The line, a stout Manila rope, was off the bow—and that fish swung our bow around, deep keel and all, and like a man might swing a flat-bottomed rowboat. The next thing we knew, we were headed into the wind, with that giant fish towing us and the rye humming like a piece of piano wire."

"I'll tell you how it made me feel," he concluded. "Just exactly as though I was an ant sitting on a cork that was about to pop under. I grabbed a hatchet and went to the bow. But just before I got there our heavy rope snapped like a piece of rotten cord. No more of that for me."

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

WAY UP NORTH—On a trip to Lansing to interview applicants for the position of Escanaba assistant city manager, A. V. Aronson, city manager, ran into snow and icy roads below the Straits of Mackinaw.

Arriving in Lansing, he found the ground snow-covered, read in the newspapers and heard over the radio that the Upper Peninsula from which he had come was "blanketed by eight inches of snow." He had no cause to disbelieve until he returned to Escanaba—where there wasn't eight inches or four inches or even one inch of snow on the ground.

It has snowed in other sections of the U. P. and downstate that apparently means a blanket. In Lower Michigan they forget that the U. P. from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie is as great in length as the Lower Peninsula, and we can have snow in one section and not in another.

Note: C. R. Lukens, Escanaba assistant city manager, this year will complete two years of on-the-job training to qualify him for the position of manager. It is his post here which will be filled by the end of the year.

SOME POTATOES—Delta county this year had 28 potato growers with yields of 500 or more bushels an acre—which gives this county almost a 50 per cent rating for the U. P. as a whole. For you see there were only 61 growers in the entire Upper Peninsula in the 500-bushel bracket.

J. L. Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent, revealed these statistics at a meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club, when the club was host to the county potato champions. This is information we would like downstate newspapers to please copy.

For Delta has also produced a number of state potato champions and this year may have a three-times winner in Frank Falkies of Cornell. Frank was state champ in 1947 and 1948 and his record of 780-bushels may be tops in the state in 1950—a winner three times in four years!

SINGING OUT—The potato growers and the Rotarians were entertained at their meeting by an Escanaba Barber Shop octet (double quarter to the less musically literate) directed by Sam Ham.

The group of songs was pleasantly harmonious, with Eddie Olson ready with his little mouth organ tuner at the beginning of a song. One of the numbers required the singers to switch to whistling for a couple bars of music, and this was equally pleasant.

But we heard that one Barber Shopper (not in the octet that day) is breaking in a new set of false choppers and whistling is no longer his forte.

RECOGNITION—Besides not understanding too well the geographic and climatic conditions of the Upper Peninsula, some folks downstate are inclined to think of the U. P. as a burned-over, washed-up, poverty-stricken area.

Not so the Michigan department of agriculture, whose Commissioner George Eby, now aided by George McIntyre, former U. P. dairy specialist, well know the agricultural potential of the country above the Straits.

As Menominee is one of the leading dairy counties in Michigan (it has more creameries than any other county in the state); Delta is rapidly coming to the front with its phenomenal potato production as the result of the Booster Contest. But the problem, says McIntyre, is to advertise and market road Michigan spuds.

In Escanaba, McIntyre pointed out, the local branch of the Michigan Potato Growers Exchange is washing and packaging top grade potatoes in a program designed not only to hold but to expand the Michigan market for Michigan-grown tubers.

NO ANSWER—And McIntyre sounded a note of advice for the potato growers: "We cannot depend upon the government to buy up our surplus potatoes every year."

For 1951 and the years ahead the advice will have special meaning, for the spud support program is scheduled to end this year. The answer, if there is one, is better marketing of a better potato.

Inside Straight

By Gordon Martin

When the cards are dealt around the board, you find you've got a hand, which with decent luck could win the pot and leave you feeling grand. There's a seven and a six and five, and then you find a three, but the other card won't fit at all, it's very plain to see. So when someone opens with a bet, the draw you then await, as you ante up and hope, for once, to fill an inside straight.

Now before the dealer gets to you, somebody ups the bet, and you figure you must string along and so you're in a sweat. When you call for one, you're scared to look, for fear again you missed, and you pray old Lady Luck will see your needy brow is kissed. Then you dare to take a peek and see just what you have in store, and your heart is soon a-flutter for you drew that lovely four!

It's a cause for celebration that an inside straight you filled, and you try your best to act just like a poker player skilled. When they check the bet, you hope that you will never show a trace, of the effort that you have to make to keep your poker face. And when no one calls your bet, you're surely in an awful state, for you doubt that once again you'll ever fill an inside straight.

ARMED FORCES ARE GROWING UP—Barring an unusual switch in plans, the U. S. armed forces will have a total strength of 2,644,000 by July, 1951. The long-range manpower goal may be even larger than the 3,000,000 figure mentioned by President Truman in a recent radio talk. The Newschart above compares strength of armed forces after the outbreak of the Korean war with anticipated strength by next July and with the tentative long-range goals for each of the services.

American Wins Literary Honor

Nobel Award Goes To Oxford, Miss., Writer

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — (AP) — American novelist William Faulkner and British philosopher Bertrand Russell were awarded Nobel literary prizes for 1949 and 1950.

The Swedish academy elected Faulkner, of Oxford, Miss., as winner of the 1949 prize—withheld last fall. This year's prize was given to 78-year-old Russell, internationally famed philosopher, mathematician and moralist.

Over 50 Candidates
The winners were selected from among more than 50 candidates. They will receive the awards from the new Swedish King, Gustaf VI, when the Nobel foundation celebrates its 50th anniversary Dec. 10.

This year's prize money totals 164,303 Krona ($31,715), while the sum frozen last year totalled 156,222 Krona ($30,007).

This was the first time two full literary prizes had been awarded simultaneously.

Faulkner is the fourth American to win the Nobel prize for literature. Others have gone to novelists Sinclair Lewis and Pearl S. Buck, and playwright Eugene O'Neill. Poet T. S. Eliot, American-born but now a British citizen, also received the prize.

With the selection of Russell, the awarding body abandoned the purely literary line for the first time in 23 years. In 1927 the French philosopher Henri Bergson received the award. In 1903 the choice was German philosopher Rudolf Eucken—criticized as one of the academy's weakest decisions.

The 53-year old Faulkner, born near Oxford, Miss., and still living there, has authored some 20 books, including the best-selling "Sanctuary," "Intruder in the Dust," "Light in August" and "Absalom, Absalom!"

The South has been his only subject. Eschewing the "Moonlight and Magnolias" school, he depicted a South haunted and at bay, but still clinging to its heritage.

Trial Marriages Favored
Russell, three times married and twice divorced, was first of all a mathematician, and later applied the mathematical approach to cold reasoning in philosophy.

His unorthodox views have generated many an intellectual storm. He proposed that marriage should be companionate and experimental rather than binding until the arrival of children, and that most university students should have temporary, trial marriages. His literary output is marked throughout by a lack of respect for authority in morals, aversion for dictators in politics and reverence for logic in philosophy.

200,000 freshmen can't be wrong!

We believe that something has happened in 1950 that you should take to heart.

Ever since this year's Buicks were introduced, their big bulge in sales has come from people who traded other makes of cars for this bounteous beauty.

The total is more than 200,000.

That's 200,000 "freshmen" added to the roll call of Buick owners—200,000 people who must have sized up the current version of the cars they owned, and decided that Buick offered more thrill, more comfort, more satisfaction for the money.

Beyond that, of course, there were other hundreds of thousands who already owned a Buick and bought a new one this year. But we're speaking here of new owners only.

We can name many reasons for this landslide—including Fireball power—an incomparable ride—and Dynaflo Drive.*

We can remind you that the Buick SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER just about blanket the range of a car-owner's aspirations—matching prices with many sizes in the lower brackets—matching distinction with the finest in the fine-car field.

We might add that Buick prices are doubly attractive—since their list prices include many features customarily on the "extra" list.

But why try to spell out all the reasons Buick wins in a showdown? The proof of the pudding is in this great car itself. Better come in—look it over—and find out what an unbeatable buy it is.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Attrition May Erase Skimpy Democratic Margin In U. S. Senate

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A check of recent history indicated today the possibility that the thin Democratic control of the new senate could be wiped out by the grim factor which the military calls attrition.

There is a chance, too, that deaths and resignations will widen the slender 49 to 47 margin by which the Democrats expect to organize the new senate in January.

Senate records show 30 members of that body died in office during the last six sessions—or 12 years. That is an average of five senators for each session. The fatalities ranged from three to nine for a session.

Filled By Governors
Tuesday's elections trimmed the Democratic majority from 54 to 42 down to 49 to 47. Since Vice President Barkley may vote whenever the senate is tied, Democrats would retain control if the split were 48 to 48.

Several times in recent years the death or resignation of a senator has altered the party line-up. A change does not result every time there is a vacancy. This is because such vacancies are filled by the governor of the state involved. Usually the governor appoints a loyal member of his own party.

Tuesday's elections gave the GOP a majority of the governorships, so if other factors were even they might have an edge in possible appointments.

Twenty years ago a similar close division in the house resulted in an overturn of control. In 1930 Republicans elected a slim majority. But Congress in those days did not meet until 13 months after the election, and before it convened enough deaths and subsequent Democratic victories in special elections enabled them to organize the house.

Two Seats Needed
So far during the 81st Congress three senators have died and three resigned. Three of these vacancies resulted in party switches.

The most recent senate death to alter party totals was that of B. M. Miller, Idaho Democrat, on October 8, 1949. A Republican, Senator Henry C. Dworshak, whom Miller had beaten in the election, was appointed and won re-election Tuesday for the rest of the term.

A recent resignation which caused a political flurry in Washington was that of former Senator Raymond Baldwin, Connecticut Republican, to take a state judicial post. In his place Democratic Gov. Chester Bowles appointed his friend and former business associate, William Benton. Benton won re-election this week, but Connecticut Republicans may ask a recount for Prescott Bush, the GOP candidate.

Republicans, however, need at least two seats to which Democrats were elected Tuesday to gain the minimum 49 votes needed to take over jobs of committee chairmen, patronage and other political awards.

With all this hanging on the balance of party control, senate resignations which would alter party lineups during the next two years appear unlikely.

Handling of Traffic-Injured Persons Demands Calm, Wayne U. Doctor Says

To demonstrate the proper way to put an accident victim in a comfortable position while awaiting a doctor's arrival, three Wayne University medical students work from one side. Necessary lifting and lowering is done in unison.

"Don't just let her lie there. Do something!"

Such advice from bystanders at the scene of an auto accident has brought harm to hundreds of crash victims, says Dr. Duncan A. Cameron, assistant professor of surgery at Wayne University and chairman of a Detroit accident problems committee sponsored by the American College of Surgeons.

If you witness an accident in which people are injured, stay calm, says Dr. Cameron. Repress the impulse to do something fast, except when necessary to lift wreckage from victims, control bleeding, or divert traffic.

Here are two principles upon which the doctor's tips are based: 1. If the victim is not seriously injured, just do what common sense dictates, after talking things over with him.

2. If the person is seriously injured, be reluctant to disturb his position. If you must shift the victim, do so only enough to make him more comfortable. Telephone for a doctor and ambulance, if possible.

"Rarely does an injured person's life depend upon instant aid," Dr. Cameron says. "The bystander is far more likely to hurt the victim than to help him, if he does the wrong thing."

If it is known that medical help cannot be obtained for a very long time then:

1. Look for a possible broken limb. Pull this member carefully in the direction of its own axis—then keep it straight with splints.
2. Put the vomiting person or the spine injury victim face down.
3. Do not urge the patient to take food or water.
4. Do not shake an unconscious victim in an attempt to rouse him. Unconsciousness may indicate concussion of the brain.
5. If transportation is absolutely necessary, use a litter. For longer trips a truck or wagon is better than an automobile, since the victim can lie flat.

We Ask That "Fares" Play Fair

Judge Cunningham was telling about a taxi ride he took over to the County Seat last week. The cab was all littered with cigarette butts, plus candy and gum wrappers. This annoyed the Judge and he spoke to the driver about it.

To his surprise the cabman answered right back. "Don't blame me," he said "Fast as I clear this taxi out, the fares just mess it up again. I like a clean cab as well as anybody, but a man has to have some co-operation!"

Judge figures the fellow was in the right, and maybe we ought to do a little campaigning with the public. I agree with him—that's why I'm writing this article.

From where I sit, it's important for us to remember the fellow who's going to get in the cab after we leave it. Because he pays the same as we do, he's got the same right to a clean, comfortable ride—just as he has the same right to enjoy the beverage of his choice (be it coffee, beer, lemonade, or what have you).

Future Of UN In Korea Seems Anybody's Guess

By HAL BOYLE
CHONGCHON RIVER FRONT, Korea—(AP)—American officers were in sharp disagreement over what the future holds for United Nations forces in Korea.

It appeared that one man's guess was a good as the next.

One general officer said he feared the Chinese Reds were mounting an offensive drive on the former Red capital of Pyongyang which would chop up the U. N. forces and split them down the middle.

Another officer predicted the war would be over by Dec. 1. A third said that if the Reds cannot achieve a decisive diplomatic victory then the Chinese will continue fighting throughout the winter.

Puzzle For Army

The situation was a puzzle throughout the Army, with a guessing game going on over the outcome.

Col. Ernest V. Holmes of De-fiance, Ohio, said he believed the war would be ended during the first week in December—and he was willing to be quoted.

"I doubt that we ever will go near the Manchurian border," he said. "Some damn fool might cross it and cause trouble."

Then he added: "I will see you in Hawaii on Christmas Day."

Lt. Col. Jacob Shacter of Aug-ust, Ga., said dryly:

"Let me collapse your bridge of optimism."

"There is the possibility the Chinese are shifting to the center of our line for a drive on Pyong-yang and a full-scale effort to out-flank the western half of our front."

He said the Reds may be hold-ing positions on the Chongchon front merely to give time for an offensive drive. There were signs that the Reds were taking defense positions by digging new trenches, laying mines and setting up road-blocks.

Diplomatic Battle

The enemy was withdrawing in some sectors and putting up heavy resistance in others.

Many military men feel the war has now become a diplomatic bat-tle which easily could develop into World War III — if the Chinese come into North Korea in full force.

A general said he believes the Americans on the Chongchon river front could drive forward 10 to 15 miles without meeting material enemy resistance. Then he added:

"The Reds have nothing to lose and all to gain by keeping the Chinese fighting us."

He concluded that if the Rus-sians and Chinese Reds can achieve a decisive diplomatic victory then "we will close the Korean peninsula."

Front Gets Longer

Shacter said if the U. N. forces continued the drive north they would fight their way out of the narrow neck of the Korean penin-sula.

"Then we would have a front that is 570 miles long. The present front is about 110 miles long."

"We should have five times as many troops if we want to have the same impact on a 570-mile front as we now have on a 110-mile front," Shacter said.

He pointed out that a short length of the North Korean front borders on Russian territory—Siberia. And, he added, the Rus-sians in his opinion would not agree to a free nation holding a border touching Russian territory.

"To protect the iron curtain," he said, "Russia must have a buffer state between her and a free na-tion."

Democrats Show Defects Of Party Long In Power

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—Having gone through the worst of the glooms over last week's resounding rebuff, some of the bolder spirits in the Democratic party are beginning to come out of the storm cellar. While they are loyal Democrats, they are more objective than the little clique immediately around the president.

Their theme song today is: "We told you so." Long before last Tuesday's election they had begun to voice privately their concern over certain trends within the leadership of the Democratic party. Above all, it was concern over the arrogance and the indifference to the general welfare of a party too long in power.

Michigan's Election
Conversely, where Democratic candidates seemed to have something to offer the result from the Democratic point of view was surprisingly favorable. Thus in normally Republican Michigan the count in the governorship race is so close that Gov. G. Mennen Williams may have been re-elected in an off year when there was no presidential nor a Michigan senatorial contest. Williams, both in what he said and what he did, tried hard to impress all the people of Michigan that he was working for their welfare and not just for one party or one pressure group.

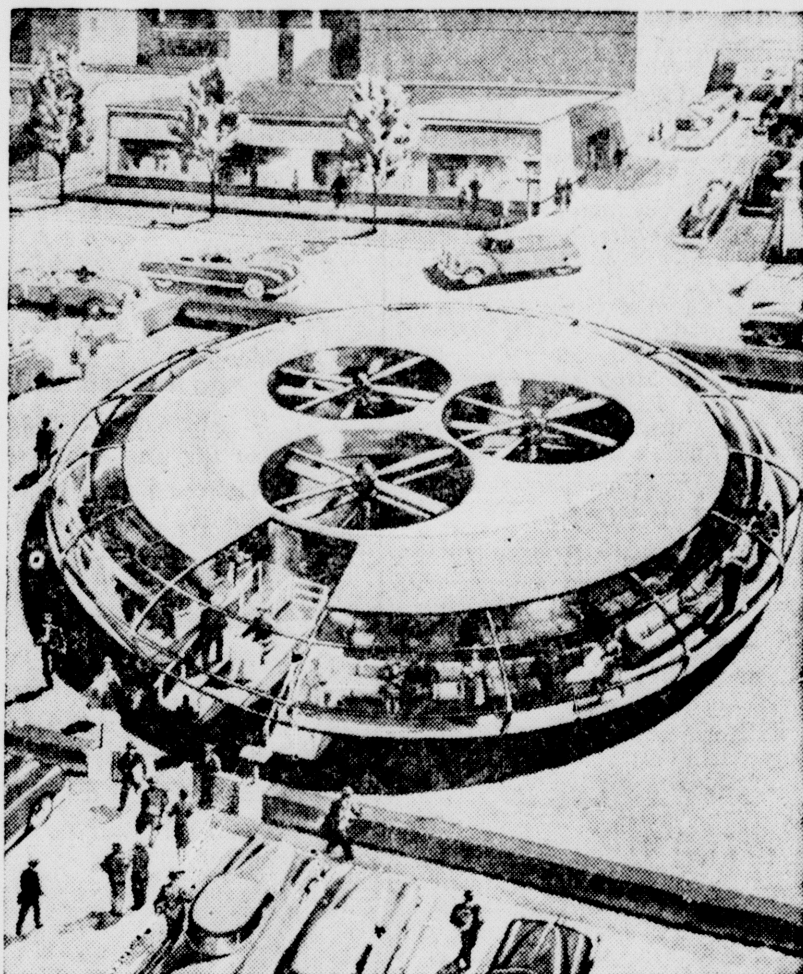

In normally Republican Connecticut, not one but two Democratic senators have been re-elected. That must be qualified by the fact that the Republicans are contesting the returns showing Sen. William Benton re-elected by barely 1,200 votes. But a Democratic governor, Chester Bowles, was narrowly defeated. Bowles might have won if it had not been for the approximately 23,000 votes that went to the so-called Socialist candidate, Jasper McLevy, with his personal following in Bridgeport.

The results in normally Republican Pennsylvania are revealing in this connection. Sen. Francis Myers, Democratic whip of the Senate, was defeated by Gov. James Duff by a comparatively small margin, but in the race for governor, the Democrat, Richardson Dilworth, came much nearer defeating a run-of-the-mine Republican candidate, Superior Court Judge John S. Fine.

The significant fact in Pennsylvania it seems to me, is that Dilworth in his campaign was carrying on the attack begun some years ago against a malodorous Republican machine long entrenched in Philadelphia's city hall. He piled up a margin of 76,000 votes in Philadelphia, carrying 33 wards to 19 for the Republicans.

Perhaps this only goes to prove that most people vote "against" rather than "for." But certainly you have to give them a little consideration now and then.

Sal ammoniac is chemically ammonium chloride. It is a common chemical with wide uses, ranging from electric dry cells to calico printing.

CITY "SAUCER" — The "flying saucer" will come into its own one day as the solution to traffic congestion in most U. S. cities, thinks designer George F. Miller of Chicago. Above is Miller's conception of a saucer-shaped, 100 passenger air bus that would carry city commuters at 90 to 175 miles an hour. Mill's idea was presented in Science and Mechanics magazine.

Beef Cattle Recommended

Found Profitable
In Some Areas

Where land is priced right and the herd is properly managed, commercial beef cattle breeding is a sound and profitable type of farming for many areas of Michigan, R. H. Nelson, Michigan State College animal husbandry department head, said today.

About five times as many beef cows as dairy cows can be handled with the same amount of work. Beef cows need little attention during the summer and fall when regular farm work is heaviest.

Close observation is demanded only at calving time and during the castration period. Beef cattle fits in with most other types of livestock enterprises, Nelson said, adding that if it is the farms only source of income, it needs to be done on a large scale as the return per head is smaller.

Thousands of feeding cattle are shipped into Michigan every year from the west. "If cattle of comparable quality would be raised in the state, a ready market and a satisfactory profit would probably be found," Nelson said. He pointed out that the cost of marketing and transportation would be less than for western cattle.

Beef cattle fit in well with grassland farming and soil conservation practices, since they can be fed large quantities of coarse cheap roughage with a minimum amount of grain.

Land not suited to raising tilled crops because of topography or climate, but which is adaptable for forage and pasture, works in well with beef cattle raising. Roughage supplemented with some protein supplement such as soy bean or linseed oil meal could easily make up the bulk of the winter ration.

Noted Author Insists Cheap Flats Suit Him

NELSON ALGREN on the porch of his Chicago flat.

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Author Nelson Algren lives in a ten-dollar-a-month flat in a Chicago factory district.

He doesn't have to. His latest book, "The Man With the Golden Arm," brought him enough fame and fortune to warrant a move to the other side of the tracks.

The book won an American industry award for distinguished work. A selection of a book club, it also is being made into a movie and Algren is writing the dialogue for the shooting script.

Second Floor Flat

Algren's small second floor flat is in the back part of a two-house lot northwest of the loop. It vibrates in rhythm with the rumble of passing freight trains. Seated amid stacks of books and surrounded by the paraphernalia of writing, Algren says he has no intention of deserting the slum for a penthouse.

He expressed the fear that moving to a swank spot on the near north side might be too distracting.

"There are too many phonies. Wis., is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Nick Bonifas.

Orville Mayhew of Jonesville, Mich., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mayhew.

Mrs. James Nepper and Mrs. Emma Goodall where returned from Manistique where they visited Mrs. Nepper's daughters, Mrs. Clinton Leonard and Mrs. George Tufnell.

Ralph Morrison and son Jimmy have returned from a business trip to Alpena.

Miss Marilyn Nedean will be employed at Tyleno's resort during the hunting season.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hinze of Big Bay are spending the week at the Raymond Nedean and George Mayhew homes.

living what they think is a very Bohemian life," he says. "For someone who wants to do serious work that sort of thing only encroaches on his time."

Has Roots There

Time apparently is of great importance to the 41 year old novelist. He has an unlisted telephone number known only to a small group of friends. And the neighborhood where he lives, with its broken sidewalks and general shabbiness, is uninviting.

It is in this neighborhood that he says "I have my roots." At least it puts him within easy reach of the people he writes about.

His books chronicle the lives of dope addicts, prostitutes, burglars, hard-as-nails cops and cops looking for a pay-off. "Golden Arm" has as its protagonist a card dealer who becomes addicted to dope. "Never Come Morning" dealt with a prostitute. His other two works, "Neon Wilderness," a collection of short stories, and "Somebody In Boots," his first novel written in 1935, were focused on life along Chicago's Division street, Madison street and South State street.

Down Under People

Life there, Algren says, is sub-community.

"There's no room for these people," he says. "They live on the edge of life with the prospect that it will end now—not today or tomorrow, but now. And on top of them, keeping them down, sits a great heavy middle class society."

His books, he said in an interview, are written with the motive of "bruising the complacency of the squares, the smug white-colored, righteous, church-going citizens. I want the middle class to be conscious of the world underneath."

LUDINGTON
BUY-LINES

by Sue Donimus

"I was Ed Wynn whosaid, 'Necessity is the mother of installments!' But who needs the installment plan with Penney's low prices? That was really impressed on me today as I looked over the great array of men's jackets priced at only $9.90. Made of a fine satin twill and lined in quilted wool, here are jackets you just can't beat for warmth and wear. The jackets come in brown, taupe, and maroon with either a knitted cuff and waist band or straight. Penney's jackets are tops!"

I LIKE to stand outside the Quality Home Furniture store and watch everybody do a double take in front of that window. It's all because of this devastating davenport and chair in lipstick red and gray that's on display. I mean you just can't walk by without another look. Made by Charles, the set is distinguished for its fine construction, all wool mohair upholstery, and clever touches (like the tufted sides that make the pieces look so smart from any angle). You'll do a double take on that low price tag too! And it's just one of many fine sets at the Quality Home Furniture!

If your clothes quarters are close quarters you will pick up your ears when I tell you about the dandy space saver I discovered at the Fair Store yesterday. It's a swell new pants hanger for men. The hanger holds six pairs of trousers and collapses into simply no space at all. The wooden bar that holds each pair of pants slips off easily. Keeps the pants in shape and it installs with just two screws. Your man will jump for joy if this is beneath his Christmas tree. See the hanger on display in the men's dept. at the Fair. It's the hanger papa pants for!

EVER toy with the idea of re-furnishing some toys for the Christmas stockings with gay enamel from the NuEnamel Store? You get some amazing results; and NuEnamel is the paint to use, all right, because it won't crack, peel, or chip. NuEnamel, with its clever color system, can achieve an unlimited selection of colors both in its enamels and flat wall paints. Stop in at 920 Ludington and look over the big selection of wall paper too. Scrumptious! Free delivery, phone 3261.

HOLD on there! You look like a stranger in these parts, so I reckon you ain't heered about the new cowboy suits at the Kiddie Korner Store. There's Roy Rogers suits for the boys, and Dale Evans suits for the girls... just arrived and mighty purdy, they are! Indian suits for small braves and squaws are on the shelves, too. Somethin' new comin' in every day at the Kiddie Korner, seems like. They're awful accomodat'ing, too—let you put down a saw buck (or even smaller) and they'll hold your stuff til Dec. 24th! 'Been doin' all my Christmas shoppin' for the kids down there!

WELL, will you pipe that! Gust As has reached the ultimate in appealing to man's vanity with the addition to his well stocked shelves of a perfume for men! Bottled in a clever glass pipe (the stem is the cover), it's called Snuff by Schiaparelli. The large pipe is generously filled with a mannish fragrance that even the most masculine male could approve. Priced at $12. Also in the Snuff fragrance there is soap, lotion, and talcum. See Gust As for that clever pipeful of Snuff by Schiaparelli. Snuff said!

NOT all men are homeless, but some are home less than others! Do I strike a responsive note with all you hunting widows? Yes, the men have flown the coop in search of the cagey deer. Hope you are a cagey deer and insist that he wear Duofold underwear. That's that slick stuff that's made of a double weave. Cotton next to the skin and wool on the outside. Just what the hunter needs. It comes in two piece sets, so he can have extra longies with the elastic waist to slip on if he gets soaked pushing through the swamp. You can buy it at Young's Haberdashery!

YOUR snow pants, jeans and underwear Are wet right to the skin! As Mom pulls off each soggy layer—"I hate to let you in! Oh, why must water be so wet! Your clothes need waterproofing. I'll get them to the NuWay yet—And this time I'm not spoofing!" P.S. She did, and I predict a drier Junior and a happler Mama. Better send those clothes to the NuWay Cleaners today for that important water proof treatment. It's the NuWay to family harmony!

City Is Forced To Raise Lake

Low Water Threat To City Supply

Necessity will force the city of Manistique to help maintain the water level in Indian Lake, it was revealed at the city council meeting Monday night by H. W. Heideman, city manager.

Heideman, who reported on anchor ice which Sunday morning clogged the brewery dam at the M-94 crossing of the Indian river, said that a condition almost similar occurred Monday at the new bridge over the Indian lake outlet.

At this point, he explained, slush ice collected over a sandbar adjoining the river outlet, reducing the river flow and thereby threatening the city water supply. He declared that the sandbar had been caused by changes made during construction of the new bridge, and reported that raising the river level would eliminate the slush ice danger.

He advised councilmen that sluice boards would be replaced at the brewery dam to raise the river level. The work would be done, he said, with approval from the Hiawatha township supervisor.

It was reported Tuesday afternoon by Orson Livermore, street superintendent, that the sluice boards were put back in Tuesday morning, and that the fish ladder at the intake dam also was closed. Replacing the sluice boards, he said, would raise the river level and also the Indian Lake level to some extent.

City employees worked several hours Monday afternoon and evening chopping away the slush ice at the Indian lake outlet.

Barbara Gross Is Bride Saturday

Of Ernest Demers

Barbara Faye Gross, daughter of Mrs. Ernest Ward, of Bushy Park, England, and Howard Gross, of Marquette, and Sgt. Ernest A. Demers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Demers, were united in marriage at a double ring ceremony performed Saturday morning at the St. Francis de Sales church.

Rev. F. M. Schermer officiated at the 9:00 a. m. nuptial mass. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a lace yoke and lace over the shoulder. The long sleeves tapered to a point with lace ruffles extending over the hands. Her full hoop skirt extended into a train. The fingertip veil was edged in lace and fell from a white beaded tiara.

Her only jewelry was a triple strand of pearls and tear-drop earrings, gift of the groom. The bride carried a white satin prayer book and white orchids with lavender throats, tied with white streamers.

Miss Myrna Demers, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a pink tulle gown styled with a fitted bodice, tapered neckline, and a full loop skirt. The bridesmaids were Miss Lyle Demers and Miss Norma Demers. They wore identical gowns of orchid and green. The gowns were styled with a lace yoke, fitted bodice, and hoop skirts. The attendants wore small white bonnets of tulle to match their gowns. Their only jewelry were three-strand pearl chokers, gifts of the bride. The bouquets were of baby mums and pom-poms tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Howard Gross, the bride's stepmother, wore a blue dress with black accessories. Mrs. Demers, mother of the groom, wore a forest green dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of gardenias and baby mums.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast for the members of the bridal party and close relatives was held at the home of the groom.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the evening at the Demers home. The decorations were large baskets of pom-poms and baby mums. The wedding cake, which centered the table, was tiered and had a miniature bride and groom on the top.

The couple left for a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. For traveling the bride chose a suit of claret wine with grey accessories.

The new Mrs. Demers is a graduate of Cooks high school and the bridegroom attended Manistique high school and is now stationed at the Chanute Air Force base in Rantoul, Ill.

The newlyweds will make their home in Champaign, Ill.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gross, and daughter, Julie, of Marquette; Miss Lila Gross, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Demers and son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Wolfe and daughter, Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Popour and Duane McGahan, all of Cooks; Maude Popour, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Turek and Jim Weberg, of Nahma; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boushey, of Dunbar, Wis.

Council Defers Making Housing Appointments; Buys Coats For Police

Selection of five members for the new city housing commission was studied at the regular meeting of the Manistique city council Monday night but action was deferred until a future meeting.

Three council members present recommended that appointments be considered carefully and that they be as representative of the community's varied interests as possible. They suggested to H. W. Heideman, city manager, that various organizations of the city be requested to recommend one or more candidates for the housing board to help the council in making the appointments.

The council also voted to execute a lease with the board of supervisors for part of a city baseball field. In a previous resolution the county board, through its building and grounds committee, had offered to make the lease for 10 years at $1 yearly, with option to renew for another 10 years. Such a lease would be subject to certain restrictions controlled by the board of trustees of the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital.

Robert Berger, member of the city recreation board, and T. H. Reque, recreation director, attended the council meeting and, in addition to the fairgrounds lease, discussed proposed baseball field development at Central park.

The council approved the purchase of overcoats for seven members of the city police department at a cost of $47 each. Satisfaction with the October

Schuster won the prize with a score of 243. Runner-up was Vern Ekstrom with 242. Schuster got his extra pin in the final frame to take the honor from Ekstrom.

Basketball Association Plans For Big Season

The Escanaba Basketball association, planning another big year with two leagues, will start play Dec. 4, it was decided at a meeting at the city hall council chambers last night.

Monday was set as deadline for team entries and Dec. 1 for team rosters.

Paul Vardigan, league president, said there were indications that entries in the American league would include the Shamrocks, winners last year, VFW, Cleveland College, Gladstone and Harnischfeger.

In the National league, there probably will be entries from the K of C, Kiwanis, National Guard, Harnischfeger, Mike's, McNess, Andys and others. Harnischfeger team won the title last year.

Games will be played Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights at the junior high school gym, starting at 6:30 and ending at 10 o'clock.

It was decided to pay officials $2.50 per game.

A board of directors was named, which will rule on all disputes which cannot be settled by the officers and team managers. The board includes Dennis McGinn, Paul Menard, Jim Coon and Charles Larson. One more member will be named later by President Vardigan.

Arnold Johnson was named association vice president to take the place of Stan Abrahamson, who has moved from Escanaba.

Harold Cass Produces Powerful Grid Team

Harold Cass, Escanaba high school graduate and former coach at Hermansville, is making a name for himself as football coach at Romulus high school near Detroit.

The Wyandotte Tribune recently ran a feature story about Cass and his football team, which has won 19 games in a row. It follows:

"A coach who never won a varsity football letter and a school that has become too big for its football boots have combined to produce one of Michigan high school circles top success stories. "The coach is Harold Cass, of Romulus high school, whose Eagles have won 18 consecutive victories, first in Huron county play and later in independent competition.

"Cass, a graduate of Escanaba high school and Western Michigan College, played football for the Broncos but never played enough to win a varsity letter. After receiving his master's degree from University of Michigan in 1932, he began his coaching career but never coached football until he came to Romulus eight years ago.

"When the coach started at Romulus, he inherited a small Class 'C' school. Consolidation and population growth in Romulus helped jump the enrollment more than 500 students forcing the Eagles out of the lower class and making them a school without a league.

"It is probable that Romulus' fellow members in the Huron Valley conference were glad to see the Eagles leave. Since Cass took over the grid chores, his team has won 52, lost 11 and tied three. Romulus took the Huron valley championship twice, and the Rouge Valley crown once.

"The current victory skein stretches over the last half of the 1948 season, the entire 1949 schedule, where the Eagles won nine, and the current season with six successive wins. The last team to defeat Romulus was the University High Cubs of Ann Arbor. The Cubs won a 12-7 game from Romulus.

One-Two Punch

"The current edition of the Eagles are probably the best team ever fielded by Romulus high. In their first four games, punter Buster Lau was forced to kick six times. Cass considers Lau to be the best high school punter he has ever seen.

"Beside being a kicker who averages 40 yards per punt, Lau is a creditable passer and an excellent runner. He teams with Dick Stellwagen who also passes and runs to give Romulus one of the strongest one-two punches in high school football.

"In fact there are six men in the first and second string backfield who can throw and the other two, Earl Campbell and Delon Darrow are outstanding running backs.

"One of the favorite targets of the passing sextet is 6' 6" Sid Dawson, an end who is unusually quick for his size. Dawson also plays center on the Romulus basketball team.

"Gridders at Romulus get their start on some of the grade school teams which Coach Cass instituted when he came to Romulus. They work their way up from the touch football teams, through the freshman team and to the varsity squad."

Lou Boudreau Being Sought By White Sox

CHICAGO — (AP) — Lou Boudreau, deposed player-manager of the Cleveland Indians, will find a $45,000 per year welcome mat out for him by the Chicago White Sox.

Sox General Manager Frank Lane said he hopes to meet with Boudreau as soon as possible and will offer him $45,000 to join the club as a reserve infielder or pinch hitter for 1951.

"If Boudreau consents, we think he will be worth that much to us next year," said Lane. "If he is waived out of the majors he will get his unconditional release. But at least, we want to huddle with him and get a chance to offer to pay three-fourths of his Cleveland salary to obtain him."

Under the waiver rule, a veteran of 10 years or more cannot take more than a 25 per cent cut in salary. Boudreau's reported pay at Cleveland was $60,000 to $65,000 yearly.

ANOTHER GREAT YEAR

MT. PLEASANT — (AP) — Central Michigan's freshman football team ended its second straight unbeaten season yesterday by nipping Toledo university's frosh 7-6. Last year Coach Al Thomas' frosh eleven won three without a loss and this year four. Thomas played at the University of Michigan.

POSTING SIX—Halfback Paul Barry of the professional Rams fights his way through a crowd from the one-yard-line to score even though pinned to a Los Angeles Coliseum goal post by the San Francisco 49ers' Sam Catheart, 83, left, aided by Frankie Albert.

MSC Sees Powerhouse Next Year

By STAN BRADSHAW
EAST LANSING — (AP) — Michigan State's 1950 football team already has written one bright chapter in the school's athletic history. The 1951 team could add even a brighter one.

Although the Spartans have yet to play the University of Pittsburgh, in this season's finale, they already boast wins over those long-time gridiron powers—Michigan, Notre Dame and Minnesota.

That, in itself, is considerable fame for a team that was barely listed among the also-rans in the pre-season charts. But if Coach Biggie Munn's boys beat the Panthers, they will wind up with eight victories and one defeat.

Not even the most optimistic fan could have predicted such a mark last September. Munn, in fact, said that a winning season would be a "miracle." But the "miracle" happened, as his sophomore squad came along, week by week.

Two Platoons Back

Next season Munn will have back, virtually intact, two platoons of this year's high-powered squad. Again, he will have a terrific line and a sharp-shooting backfield.

The two big losses will be Fullback LeRoy Crane and left Halfback Sonny Grandelius. But each of them has capable reserves.

The 1951 backfield, for instance, could have Al Dorow, now a junior, back at quarterback Vince Pisano would continue at right half; Don McAuliffe could go at left half and Dick Panin at fullback.

The offensive line, quite likely, will have Paul Dekker and Bob Carey at ends; Don Coleman and Mary McFadden at tackles; Frank Kapral and Dean Garrity at guards and Dick Tamburo at center.

Each of these 11 has seen extended service this year, with Dorow, Pisano, Carey, Coleman, McFadden, Kapral and Tamburo enjoying regular status.

Defensively, four of five members of a real hot-shot backfield should be back. The returners include Ed Timmerman, Doug Weaver, Ray Vogt and Johnny Wilson. Jesse Thomas, this year's safety man, may be replaced by Jimmy Ellis.

Gustafson Promising
The line, a little more uncertain.

Saginaw Booted Out of League

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (AP) — Saginaw, is temporarily and perhaps permanently out of the class A Central baseball league and St. Joseph may become its replacement.

The league voted to take over the franchise of the debt-ridden Saginaw club. The Saginaw owners were granted 15 days to straighten out the club's finances and appeal for reinstatement.

President Thomas J. Halligan of Flint said the Saginaw club owes about $28,000, of which $18,000 is in unpaid taxes.

Action on electing a new president was tabled until the minor league baseball meeting starting Dec. 3 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Local Ski Jumpers Plan Big Year

Spartan Cage Coach Can Make His Mark

EAST LANSING — (AP) — Young Pete Newell, starting his first year as basketball coach at Michigan State college, is in a position where he could look very good indeed.

For one thing, this year will be Michigan State's first in Big Ten basketball competition. For another, Newell has taken over a squad that won only four games of 22 last year.

If he should come up with a winner or even a team that can hold its own pretty well in the rough Big Ten battle, the 35-year-old mentor is in, but good. He faces an uphill struggle, however. Newell has eight lettermen returning from the 1949 team. That should be a pretty good start, except that his missing players include high scoring forwards Bill Rapchak and Dan Smith, and guard Bob Robbins, a defensive expert.

Carey Is Late

Smith led the team in scoring with 207 points, while Rapchak set a school mark of 691 points in four seasons of play.

The veterans again available are Jim Snodgrass, second leading team scorer last year, with 204 points; guards Gordon Stauffer and Sonny Means; centers Ray Steffen and John Moore; and forwards Leif Carlson and Bill Bower.

Bob Carey, the eighth letterman and a 6' 5" center, is a star end on the football team. He will report late. As a regular last year, he rolled in 175 points. Newell has yet to see him in practice, however.

Up from last year's freshman squad are Bob Wright, a 6' 6" center, forward Lee Boucher and Ole Furseth and guards Fran Orlham and Tom McAuliffe.

Newell, and his assistant, John Benington, held a long spring practice, and got started early again this fall. The prospective team members have been drilled hard in the system Newell used at the University of San Francisco.

Center Is Key

The key to the system is a center who acts as a ball-handler and feeder, and is a consistent scorer and rebound hot-shot. With the opening game against Wayne scheduled Dec. 2, only three weeks away, Newell has yet to pick his man.

The Spartans have 15 games scheduled with Big Ten schools, plus matches with such outsiders as Wayne, Detroit and Notre Dame. During the Spartan basketball tournament, Dec. 29-30, they also play Penn State and Princeton.

Young Basketball Players Are Called

Escanaba boys from seventh through twelfth grades wishing to play intramural basketball are asked to report Saturday at the senior high school gym.

Seventh, eighth and ninth graders are asked to report from 8 to 9:30 and boys from the senior high school will report from 9:30 to 12. The program is in charge of Bob Dufour of the city recreation department.

Escanaba's small but active ski jumping group is preparing for big things this winter.

For several weeks, the boys have been working on ground preparation for the 35 foot slide which is being erected at the Gladstone ski club park.

Unable to get sufficient backing in Escanaba, the jumpers have cast their lot with the Gladstone club. The jump will be made from a 76 foot run and leaps of 150 feet are expected. The slide is being erected near the club-house.

Bill Ferrari, a member of the local group, today issued a call for local volunteers interested in skiing to help with the work the next few weekends. Anyone wishing to help may call 2558 and a ride will be provided.

Besides Ferrari, local ski jumpers include John Grodesky, John Prokots, Tom Fisher and Gerald Harris. Jumpers from Bark River and Cornell also will be attached to the Escanaba and Gladstone group.

Gussie Shows Her Tennis Skill, Too

TOLEDO, O. — (AP) — Gertrude "Gorgeous Gussie" Moran put on one of her best exhibitions of the pro tennis tour last night as she extended Pauline Betz Addie to 20 games before losing 11-9.

The victory gave Mrs. Addie 11 wins against two losses and a pair of ties. About 2,000 watched the matches at the Sports arena.

Pancho Segura won in straight sets from Jack Kramer, 6-3, 6-4. It was Segura's sixth victory in 15 matches. Segura and Mrs. Addie won the mixed doubles, 6-1.

Bruce Woodcock Hangs up Gloves

LONDON — (AP) — Bruce Woodcock's handers have tossed in their last towel.

The one-time British heavyweight ruler, who at times bled so often he began to look like a leaky blood bank, hung up his gloves for good last night.

With British and British empire titles on the line, Woodcock was beaten into submission in 11 rounds by Jack Gardner, a 24-year-old chicken farmer.

Woodcock said afterwards "I'm giving it up. I've had enough."

Now Gardner, a relative novice with only 25 professional fights, takes over as ruler of the British big men. His immediate plans are indefinite.

"We are in no hurry to match Jack with Americans" said Manager John Simpson.

Texas Guard Named Lineman of Week

NEW YORK — (AP) — After two successive weeks that saw Pacific coast conference players win, this week's Associated Press lineman of the week award was shared by a Southwest conference lineman—Lewis "Bud" McFadden, Texas guard.

The nod went to McFadden for his play against Baylor, a nip and tuck game won by Texas, 27-20.

Normally an offensive left guard, he was shifted to defense in the second half and played a major role in helping to stop the Bears.

Wolves' Air Defense Facing Tough Task

ANN ARBOR — (AP) — Michigan's aerial defense, never too strong this season, will face the gigantic task Saturday of stopping the most potent pass combination in the Big Ten.

Wildcat Quarterback Dick Flowers boasts a fine accuracy to date in Northwestern's over-all accomplishment of five wins and two losses.

And he has a superb target in end Don Stonisier, current holder of the Big Ten season record for catching, who has two games to go yet.

Stonisier was the key man in Northwestern's 21-20 win over Michigan a year ago. If the Wolverine defenses are not in good form Saturday, he may play the same role again.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan, who has had his defensive troubles due to injury, may field a stronger unit against the Wildcats. Don Peterson, defensive right halfback who rates best in the Michigan camp, is still favoring a knee injury incurred in the Illinois game two weeks ago. However, he may be ready to return to the lineup Saturday.

In addition, final recovery of the knee injury which Leo Koceski suffered in the Army game four weeks ago seems near. The number one wingback may get in some licks against Northwestern.

If either one is ready, or both, Oosterbaan's defensive picture will brighten considerably.

Use of either Peterson or Koceski on defense would give Oosterbaan a fairly solid unit. Tony Mommson and Roger Zatkoff back the line well. Fullback Don Dufek plays the other halfback. And either passing ace Chuck Ortmann or end Lowell Perry handles the safety assignment.

Wes Bradford, the 155-pound sophomore who came out of nowhere to pace the Michigan attack against Indiana, took the pressure off Michigan's tremendous need for a right halfback on offense. So both Peterson and Koceski are free to concentrate on defense chores.

Draft May Kill Football Team

DETROIT — (AP) — Detroit Tech may become the first Michigan small college forced to give up football because of the manpower shortage resulting from the draft.

Coach Henry Johnson told the Michigan Football Writers luncheon there was some doubt that the Tech Tecumseh would field a team in 1951.

"Of the 29 men left on our potential football squad for next year, half are on military deferments and might be called to service at any time," Johnson said.

"The days when you could play college football with squads of 20 men are gone for the other team is always throwing the two-platoon or three-deep lineup setups against you."

Johnson pointed out further that the football revenues of Detroit Tech and some other small schools decline when the student body falls off because of the draft or for other reasons.

"We operate on a small budget—about $4,500 for our football team—and I know for a fact that we used less footballs than any team in the state. I was the equipment manager as well as the coach," he said.

Felton Meets Bronx Puncher

DETROIT — (AP) — Fleet-footed Lester Felton will risk his ring future in a 10-round bout with hard-hitting Gene Hairston of the Bronx, N. Y. here tonight.

Felton, a Detroit Negro welterweight, has been in the doghouse of his hometown fight fans since his poor showing against lightweight champion Ike Williams on June 2.

That fight followed Felton's usual pattern of hit-and-run but the Detroit promoter International Boxing club officials he would stand his ground against Hairston.

The Bronx middleweight is an 8-5 favorite, however, on the basis of his harder punching and weight advantage of about six pounds.

In a companion 10-rounder, middleweight Ray Barnes of Detroit will tangle with Anton Raadik of Chicago via Estonia.

GRIDDER STUDIES

Oklahoma Educator Takes Over Truman Point Four Program

WASHINGTON — (P) — Dr. Henry Garland Bennett, an Oklahoma educator, will take over direction of the slowly-unfolding point four program for helping under-developed countries on Dec. 1.

President Truman announced yesterday appointment of the Oklahoma A. and M. university president as head of the technical cooperation administration in the state department, which is the overall agency for the new program.

On leave from the university, Bennett is due to take the new post a few weeks before the administration is scheduled to ask Congress for funds for a second year of what Mr. Truman launched as a "bold new program." The appropriation for this year was $34,600,000.

Acheson Under Pressure To Quit Cabinet

ters is against Acheson.

The Democratic politicians are said to believe that his usefulness has been greatly impaired by his famous year-old statement that he would not turn against Alger Hiss. Hiss had just been convicted of perjury in connection with charges of turning over secret papers to Communists. They contend also that Acheson has been harmed by Senator McCarthy's (R-Wis.) campaign alleging Communist influences in the state department.

The opposite viewpoint comes from Acheson's friends in the administration and particularly from some of his department associates. Their argument is that Republican election victories were not a repudiation of the broad lines of American foreign policy. Mr. Truman is responsible for that policy and Acheson to a large extent is its architect.

Truman Needs Help

If the president let Acheson go, according to this argument, he would be handicapped in continuing to develop and carry out policies which have wide acceptance.

Moreover, Acheson's friends contend, such a move would strengthen the hand of the administration's Republican critics and cap with success the long campaign which some of them have waged against the secretary of state.

In effect, according to this argument, Acheson's departure would be interpreted either as an admission by Mr. Truman that his critics had been right all along or that they had made things so hot Mr. Truman had no alternative.

Senator Glen Taylor Won't Be Extradited To Serve Jail Term

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (P) — Extradition papers for U. S. Senator Glen Taylor (D-Idaho) were in Gov. James E. Folsom's hands today but there was little chance that the governor would use them.

Folsom has termed Taylor's 1948 conviction on disorderly conduct charges in Birmingham "political persecution." He said he would not attempt to extradite Taylor.

Taylor was given a six-month jail sentence and a $100 fine. The charge grew out of his attempt to enter a meeting of the southern Negro Youth Congress in Birmingham through a door reserved for Negroes.

After a scuffle with a policeman, Taylor was charged with disorderly conduct.

His conviction was upheld by the state court of appeals and the U. S. supreme court refused to review it.

More Kidnap Plots Believed Mapped By Santa Fe Physician

SANTA FE, N. M. — (P) — Investigators believe Dr. Nancy Campbell, charged with kidnaping nine-year-old Linda Stamm, may have plotted abductions in at least three other cities.

Officers yesterday reported finding two more unused extortion notes. One, which came from luggage in a Las Vegas, N. M., hotel room occupied by Miss Campbell last week, carried the notation: "Vegas 1, El Paso 2, Albuquerque 2."

State Police Chief Joe Roach said the notation apparently indicated plans for kidnapings in those cities. He said the note had blank spaces where names, ransom figures and instructions for payment could be inserted.

Dr. Campbell was arrested last Saturday night outside Santa Fe as she was picking up a $20,000 ransom package. Linda, stepdaughter of wealthy contractor Allen Stamm, was rescued from Dr. Campbell's parked car. She was tied and under the influence of a sedative but unharmed.

The woman doctor is under $25,000 bond pending her trial. Her attorney said the defense plea would be temporary insanity.

will Vandenberg be the acting governor?

4—If a recount were ordered on all elective state officers, does speaker Knox assume the governorship until the issue is settled?

Nothing In Books

Yesterday a number of state officials assumed that if all the elective state officers were prevented from taking office January 1 the job would fall to Knox through the line of succession.

Alger and Senator Harry F. Hittler, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, said they understood that was the rule.

Now other attorneys aren't so sure. They say they can't find it in the statute books.

Further they raise questions as to whether the state's "line of succession" statute covers the present muddle.

Politicians speculated that Williams was adroitly putting the heat on the Republicans by raising the possibility he might continue to hold the governorship while the recount fight goes on. The Republicans have assumed so far that Vandenberg would take over the governorship pending the outcome of a recount.

Roth said he would not be surprised if the issue were not settled until late 1951 or early 1952. This is based on the assumption the recount would end up in the courts.

Phone Strike Moves Into Deer Country With Picket Lines

DETROIT — (P) — Michigan's hit-and-run telephone workers' strike extended into the deer hunting country today.

With thousands of hunters up-state for the opening of the deer season, operators walked out and established picket lines at Traverse City, Newberry, Cadillac, Sault Ste. Marie, Manistiquette, Houghton and Calumet.

Hunters make fairly frequent use of long distance telephone service.

Pickets also appeared today at Saginaw, Battle Creek, Mt. Clemens, Ionia, Beulah, Reed City, Scottville, St. Clair, and Wayne.

The wage strike of the CIO Communications Workers in Michigan completed its first week yesterday. It began simultaneously with the nationwide strike of the same union against Western Electric Co., the installing service.

Governor Of Kansas Finds Way to Resign And Go To U. S. Senate

TOPEKA, Kas. — (P) — Frank Carlson finally has figured out how he is going to quit being governor of Kansas.

He was elected to the United States Senate Nov. 7 for both the unexpired term of the late Sen. Clyde Reed and the next regular term. His two-year term as governor ends Jan. 8.

Carlson wants to resign as governor as soon as he gets his certificate of election, but a thorough search of the constitution and statutes failed to show how he could go about it. The laws permit a governor to quit, but don't tell him how.

The search by a host of legal advisers led back through history to 1863 when Gov. Sam J. Crawford resigned and went off to fight Indians.

Crawford, with simple informality, just sat down and wrote a letter of resignation to the people of Kansas, and filed it with the secretary of state.

That's what Carlson is going to do, too.

Daughter, 7, Is Shot By Father In Lansing

LANSING — (P) — A father who shot his seven-year-old daughter in the right chest before dawn today was held by police for a mental examination.

Mrs. Lucille Johnson, 28, the mother, ran across the street to call police from a neighbor's house.

Truman To Announce Call For Congress

Recount Assured On Governorship

ought to continue in office. He said at a press conference that he understood that any public officer-holder continues in office pending determination of his legal successor.

Michigan has a constitutional line of succession. The lieutenant-governor, followed in turn by elective administrative officers, would succeed. All these jobs, incidentally, were won by Republicans.

Meanwhile, a recount of the entire state ticket was being advocated in some Democratic quarters.

Victory Statement Issued

Roth, who was defeated in the election, was one advocate. He said citizens were "very much disturbed" over the election snafu and that a full recount was necessary to "restore public confidence."

At the same time Williams got out a "victory" statement extolling Michigan's first re-election of a Democratic governor in 36 years.

He said the result proved the public's faith in his "program and ideals of good government."

Kelly, 56-year-old former Michigan governor who served two terms during the last world war, called for a recount and GOP state headquarters said the party would foot the $20,000 bill.

Kelly proposed a state-wide recount rather than a recount limited to certain counties or precincts.

"We would be remiss to our responsibility to the people of Michigan if we did not ask for a full recount," he said.

The Kelly-Williams battle for the governorship was based largely on philosophies of government. Kelly said Williams was in control of "Socialists" and that the Democrats intended to make the state's government socialistic. Williams argued that the Republicans planned a government run by "Big Business."

Kelly Coming Home

Kelly made his statement via telephone from his post-election vacation sojourn in Florida. He is expected back home today or tomorrow.

The decision to seek a recount was made by the GOP's state high command, including state chairman Owen J. Cleary and national committeeman Arthur J. Summerfield.

"I believe the overwhelming majority of the citizens will concur," Kelly said.

Actually, Michigan has never had a recount of a gubernatorial election.

John H. Brennan and Sam B. Ostrow, Detroit attorneys, were appointed by Neil Staebler, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, to represent the Democratic party in the recount.

Counties Name Watchers

Brennan was deputy attorney general and Ostrow chief assistant under Raymond W. Starr when the latter was attorney general in 1937 and 1938.

Staebler said the party was setting up committees in every county headed by the county chairman and including leading Democratic lawyers to assist in recount problems. Each county will recruit a team of watchers.

Staebler said he would favor a recount at state expense if it includes all state offices, legislative offices and Congressional offices.
